WEATHER KEY POINTS

05/23/19 - 05/29/19

Thursday-Friday

- Showery conditions continue across the state through the work week, especially along the higher terrain.
 - The debris flow threat on burn scars is very low. Debris flows are not likely.
 - Thunderstorms are possible today in portions of Southern and Inland Regions, which could produce brief moderate to heavy rainfall, small hail, gusty winds, and funnel clouds.

Saturday-Monday

- Another storm system will move into California for the holiday weekend, bringing an increased threat of showers, thunderstorms, and gusty winds, especially Saturday and Sunday
 - Accumulating snow is possible again in the Sierra above 7500 feet
 - The heaviest precipitation will likely be focused on the northern half of the state, but there is a chance of precipitation for Southern Region as well

Tuesday-Wednesday

- Drier weather is possible by mid-week, though confidence in details is currently low
